Introduction

--- Upon establishing "Comprehensive Measures to Eliminate Child Pornography"

The number of child pornography crimes cleared and the number of victims have been on a rise in Japan, with both hitting a record high in 2009 at 935 cases (up by nearly 40% from the previous year) and at 405 victims (up by nearly 20% (id.)).

More than half of these cases were through the use of the Internet, and in particular, nearly 90% of the cases of the provision of child pornography and the public display of child pornography were through the Internet. Furthermore, circumstances are more serious, in that some of these cases are committed by the real mothers of the children, who are supposed to protect their children, or by school teachers or nursery teachers, in whom children usually place absolute trust.

Child pornography has become an issue to be addressed globally, and for three consecutive years since 2007, the Concluding Declaration of the G8 Justice and Home Affairs Ministerial Meeting contains statements concerning the necessity to promote countermeasures against child pornography in collaboration among respective countries. Through the investigation in Japan by the UN Special Rapporteur on Trafficking in Persons in July 2009, it was pointed out that Japan's efforts had not been enough for addressing the issue of child pornography. The need for countermeasures against child pornography has thus been emphasized also in the field of the fight against human trafficking.

Child pornography is a record of sexual exploitation and sexual abuse of children, which violates children's rights protected under the Convention on the Rights of the Child. It is almost impossible to withdraw child pornography once it has been placed on the Internet, and the pain of crime victims lasts long into the future. Such heinous child pornography crime is unacceptable and the spread and flow of child pornography should be stopped and eliminated.

In order to solve the issue of child pornography, the role that the police should play through strengthened crackdown is significant, but at the same time, it is also indispensable to obtain people's understanding and cooperation and take preemptive measures to prevent the occurrence and expansion of the damage of child pornography and to enhance the system to protect and support child victims.

With all of these circumstances in mind, the Japanese government established "Comprehensive Measures to Eliminate Child Pornography" with the aim of achieving the goal of eliminating child pornography in the coming three years.

These measures are a compilation of policies that the government should conduct immediately under existing laws and regulations, and the relevant ministries and agencies will promote concrete measures based thereon, in collaboration with people, business entities, and related bodies. The results of respective efforts shall be reviewed almost every year and flexible and effective actions shall be taken in accordance with changes in circumstances.

The government will also make efforts to disseminate, in Japan, the "Rio de Janeiro Declaration and Call for Action to Prevent and Stop Sexual Exploitation of Children and Adolescents," which was compiled at the "World Congress III against Sexual Exploitation of Children and Adolescents" held in Rio de Janeiro in November 2008. (Ministry of Foreign Affairs, National Police Agency, and Ministry of Justice)

hold lectures concerning home education on the risks on the Internet, through which damage by child pornography crimes is often caused, and proper use of the Internet. (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology)

(i) Promotion of efforts toward the elimination of illegal information

The police will work hard to detect illegal information related to child pornography through cyber patrol and reports to the Internet Hotline Center and promote crackdown. The police and the Internet Hotline Center shall issue a request for deletion to site administrators if they detect any information of that kind. When having arrested a suspect of a child pornography crime using the Internet, the police will request or instruct the administrator and other interested parties of the bulletin board on which said illegal information was placed to delete the information and to make efforts to prevent the recurrence of any similar cases. Public-private collaboration with the body shall be promoted to carry out measures to prevent distribution of child pornography. (National Police Agency, Cabinet Secretariat, Cabinet Office, Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, and Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry)

(v) Promotion of various measures toward the introduction of blocking

Child pornography on the Internet significantly infringes the rights of children. Even when the Internet Hotline Center has requested the deletion of detected images to the site administrator, etc. or when the police have conducted investigation and have arrested suspects, said images are left on the Internet until they are actually deleted. In order to protect the rights of children, it is necessary to prepare an address list of websites containing child pornography immediately after detecting any problematic images, irrespective of the nationality of the servers, and have ISPs take measures to prevent access to such images (blocking). The following measures shall be taken so that ISPs and other related business operators can start such blocking on a voluntary basis by the end of FY2010, while paying attention not to cause any unreasonable effects on the privacy of communications and the freedom of expression of Internet users. (National Police Agency, Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, Cabinet Secretariat, Cabinet Office, and Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry)

i. Environmental arrangement toward voluntary introduction of effective blocking, such as prompt preparation and provision of address lists

(iv) Enhancement of the counseling system

As it is often difficult for police officials in charge alone to continuously support child victims to alleviate their psychological damage, a system needs to be established, under which external specialists, such as clinical psychologists and psychiatrists, are commissioned in advance to provide advice to those officials as needed. For the purpose of alleviating the burdens of sex crime victims and promoting proper investigation, sites for sex crime victims were established in the model project in FY2010 so that various supports and investigations for such victims can be carried out at one spot. The Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology will deploy school counselors, who have highly specialized knowledge and experience concerning children's clinical psychology, and assist the establishment of the education consultation system so as to contribute to the early detection of child pornography crime victims. Furthermore, as measures for children in need of mental care due to disasters or incidents and accidents including child pornography crimes, the ministry will provide assistance for emergency dispatch of school counselors. (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology)

(vi) Support for children and reporting by child guidance centers

(vii) Operation of Child and Family Support Centers and deployment of officials in charge of psychotherapy to child welfare institutions

Officials in charge of psychotherapy will provide care and guidance to children in need of psychological treatment, and officials in charge of psychotherapy shall be deployed to foster homes, infant homes, children's self-reliance support facilities, and maternal and child living support facilities to provide psychotherapy, such as play therapy and counseling, to children in need of such therapy due to trauma caused by abuse, etc. (Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare)

(2) Enhancement of capacity of officials

(i) Study on questioning techniques with consideration to feelings of child victims

The "Study Group on Objective Techniques for Questioning Child Victims," which was established in the National Police Agency and consists of experts in the field of psychology, will study questioning techniques through which they can ensure admissibility of evidence and probative value of child victims' statements, while understanding victims' feelings and characteristics and paying ample attention to prevent secondary damage. They will study concrete techniques in FY2010 and prepare a manual and DVD for questioning techniques in FY 2011. In order to disseminate questioning techniques thus established to prefectural police departments, officials in charge of questioning child victims shall be provided with lectures on the necessity and effectiveness of such techniques and training for the role playing practices of questioning procedures in line with actual case examples. (National Police Agency)

(ii) Study on how to support child victims

The National Police Agency will provide training for prefectural police officials in charge of supporting child victims, have them study how to carry out counseling, how to deal with cases properly upon occurrence, and how to provide support to victims for their recovery, based on the characteristics of such crimes as child pornography crimes, and thereby enhance the capacity of those officials. They will collect sample cases concerning support for child victims in FY2010 and compile them into a booklet for recovery support in FY2011. (National Police Agency, Ministry of Justice, and Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare)

(iii) Implementation of survey research and training concerning care for child sex crime victims

The Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare will conduct surveys and research on methods for early detection of child sex crime victims and for proper questioning of sexually assaulted children at child guidance centers. The Children's Rainbow Center will provide child guidance center officials with training on how to deal with sexual abuse cases. (Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare)

(iv) Enhancement of treatment for mental care

The Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology will prepare reference materials to explain effective methods of health monitoring and health consultation for healthcare teachers and general teachers so that they can understand children's ordinary mental and physical conditions and detect and deal with their health problems at an early stage. At the same time, the ministry will hold symposiums targeting healthcare teachers and clinical psychologists dispatched to schools. (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology)

(National Police Agency)

(iii) Strengthening of collaboration with foreign investigative authorities

The National Police Agency will actively participate in international activities by the International Criminal Police Organization (ICPO), the G8 Roma/Lyon Group and the like, dispatch agency officials to training conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and expand Seminar and Investigators Conference on Child Prostitution /Commercial Sexual Exploitation in Southeast Asia that have been held since 2002.
